'Holiday Cheer' gift boxes available early October

Sublimity, Ore., 17 Sept. 2009 — Two Oregon companies are partnering to offer a one-of-a-kind Oregon-made gift box for the holidays. Tribal Moose BBQ and Honeywood Winery brought their cranberry-inspired products together to offer the “Tribal Moose Cranberry Cheer gift box,” which speaks to the grill lover, the wine lover, and the cranberry lover.

Their versatile sauces, infused with the unique flavor of cranberries, “are great for anything from ribs and steak to fish and wild game,” says Tribal Moose co-owner Clinton Cox, and starting Oct. 1, gift baskets will be available through their website.

Tribalmoose.net currently sells individual bottles of their sauces—which include an original barbecue, spicy barbecue, steak sauce, and ketchup—in addition to a four-bottled sample pack. The new gift baskets will include Tribal Moose’s year-'round favorite original and spicy BBQ sauces in addition to a bottle of Honeywood Holiday Cheer Cranberry Wine.

“We’re really pleased with this new partnership,” Cox said. “We think they’re a great representation of Oregon and of the appeal of cranberries. They’ll be fantastic for spicing up traditional holiday meals.”

The Tribal Moose Cranberry Cheer gift boxes cost $30, and are available exclusively through their website, <http://www.tribalmoose.net>.

About Tribal Moose BBQ Sauce

Ron Broughton founded the Tribal Moose company in 1988. Although the ideas and recipes started in the '80s, Tribal Moose, Inc. didn't become a formal sauce company until 2003 when Ron set out to create a business that not only created amazing sauces but established itself as a contributing member of its community. Tribal Moose's reputation for creating incredibly flavorful cranberry sauces has made the products a favorite for barbecues and holiday gatherings. The company has several variations of their original cranberry-based sauce, including a spicy barbecue sauce, a cranberry steak sauce and even a cranberry ketchup (of which 100 percent of the proceeds go to the Salvation Army). The company is built around a philanthropic backbone: “committed to changing the world one bottle of sauce at a time.” For more information, visit www.tribalmoose.net or call at 503.409.4291.
